

Stand 245-B

Organo Corporation

Organo is a general water treatment engineering company that sells water treatment systems and chemicals to a wide range of industries.

Organo operates three businesses: the plant business sells water treatment systems, the solution business maintains and manages delivered systems and the functional product business sells standard products and chemicals.

