

Stand 50

Flemish Institute for Technological Research (VITO)

VITO is a leading European independent research and technology organization in the areas of cleantech and sustainable development. The Water Management and Technology Department offers integrated solutions for challenges related to water. We support industry, public authorities and cities to setup demonstration projects and living labs to evaluate sustainable water management concepts.