

Stand 284-A

New Energy and Industrial Technology Development Organization - NEDO

NEDO plays an important part in Japan's economic and industrial policies as one of the largest public research and development management organizations. It has two basic missions: addressing energy and global environmental problems, and enhancing industrial technology.