

IWA WDCE 2019: China pavilion

On the exhibition floor we have a worldwide representation of countries active in the water sector. Some countries are grouped together in a pavilion and China is one of them. The pavilion is coordinated by China Science Technology Development & Promotion Center for Water Environmental Protection. Sri Lanka is one of the 126 countries part of the Belt and Road Initiative; therefore, several organizations want to showcase their latest projects and innovations to the 3000 water professionals who are expected to visit the exhibition at Water Development Congress & Exhibition, taking place 1 – 4 December 2019 in Colombo, Sri Lanka. Just to name a few: Beijing Tidelion Water Harvesting, Lihero, Jingrun and Lianchi and several other Chinese organizations are lined-up to join the China pavilion.
